Wellness Press, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 150 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This book is the story of one woman s yearning for God, and at the same time it illuminates the universal relentless longing of all human beings for connection with their Source. I am reminded of three poetic statements of that yearning, one from the Muslim tradition, one from Judaic, and one from Christian. Eight hundred years ago, the Sufi mystic Rumi wrote the poem Love Dogs One night a man was crying, Allah! Allah! His lips grew sweet with the praising, Until a cynic said, So! I have heard you calling out, but have you ever gotten a response? The man had no answer to that. He quit praying and fell into a confused sleep. He dreamed he saw Khidr, the guide of souls, In a thick, green foliage. Why did you stop praising? Because I ve never heard anything back. This longing you express is the return message. The grief you cry out from Draws you toward union. Your pure sadness That wants help Is the secret cup. Listen to the moan of a dog for its master. That whining is the connection. There are love dogs No one knows the names of. Give your life To be one of them. Ultimately, we all give our lives to be something, and we all cry out from grief. To what end? Union, or exile? Another approach to exploring and understanding this human dilemma is presented by Rabbi DovBer, Maggid of Mezritch (?-1772), in the following well-known analogy. The human experience of exile is comparable to a father who conceals himself from his son. Not that the father does not want to be together with his son,...
