The Church is Not the Organization is a content analysis of certain Biblical revelations, religious doctrines, precepts and traditions pertinent to the Biblical Church that Jesus Christ has so declared to build in refutation of the general misconception that it is the organization and organism which Christ founded to continue His work of sanctifying, ruling and teaching all men. For the past many generations, the Church continues to exist in two parallel realities: one, as the Church which Christ proclaimed He will build; and two, as the organization which wise and prudent men of this world propose He had founded. At a glance, there is a very subtle possibility that the Church Jesus Christ will build could very well be the same organization which He allegedly founded. And sure enough, the religious world readily accepted the proposition and generally acknowledged the Church as the organization and organism which Christ founded. The proposition is forwarded by the teachers of the Roman Catholic Church organization in their long-winded official definition of the Church. It says in part: The Church is the organization and organism which Christ founded to continue His work of sanctifying, ruling and teaching all men, bringing to them the fruits of the Redemption. Christ commissioned the apostles, under the primacy of Peter, to rule and teach His Church; and He instituted the Mass and the sacraments by means of which they were to sanctify all men. Finally, He assured them of His continuing presence, saying, I am with you all days, even unto the consummation of the world (Matthew 28:20). The Church is thus the union of Christ with humanity in a hierarchically organized society. Since...
